RAILROAD VETERANS GATHER AT BANQUET

Monongahela Division Employees Enjoy Second Annual Session--Supt. Mitchell, President of Association, Here

The Veteran Employees Association annually shipped over the division of the Monongahela Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which company includes every employee eligible to membership on the division from section foremen to superintendent, held its second annual banquet at the Turner Hall in Charleroi Thursday evening. A special train from Pittsburgh, which picked up the members along the route, arrived in Charleroi at about 6 o'clock, while other members from up the line came on the regular trains. The Pittsburgh contingent was headed by A. G. Mitchell, superintendent of the division, who is president of the association.

Before the banquet which was scheduled at 6:45, the annual business session was held in the reception room of the Turn Verein. The banquet was served in the hall above under direction of the steward of the club, who prepared a choice and sumptuous menu that was highly complimented by the guests. Palms and ferns served as decorations, while Wheeler's orchestra rendered a musical program during the repast.

At the conclusion of the banquet, Supt. Mitchell, as president of the association, officiated as toastmaster. He read a number of letters of regret, among which were communications from President Rea, of the Pennsylvania system, who built the Monongahela division, and General Manager S. C. Long, who was also formerly located on the division. Mr. Mitchell prefaced his opening address with a statement of the association, which was only organized last year, Eligibility to membership is 21 years continuous service on the Monongahela division. The present membership of the association is 199. During the year 24 new members have been added and three have been lost by death. The first annual banquet was held last year in Pittsburgh.

With a few brief but forcible remarks along the line of habits, discipline and co-operation, Mr. Mitchell called upon John Waters as the first speaker, whom he said, was one of the few employees who could perform his duties regularly and go to the ball game every afternoon. Mr. Waters paid a high tribute to the railroad interests as developing factors in the progress of the country, and to the growing efficiency of the railroad employees. Under present conditions, he said, the poem, "Asleep at the Switch," would never have been written.

Characterizing former Assemblyman Charles A. Bentley of Monongahela as a "has-been," because he has been in the legislature, Mr. Mitchell called upon the former as the next speaker. Mr. Bentley was in his happiest vein and recited with telling effect his famous poem adapted from "Casey at the Bat" to apply to Governor Tener and to Charleroi. This produced great enthusiasm and it culminated by the toastmaster proposing a toast to Governor Tener, which was given most heartily.

M. E. Hardgold, talked along the lines of efficiency and loyalty, and of the public service of the railroads. He said the Pennsylvania railroad along the Monongahela valley had been accused of raising prices and it did—the price of land, for instance, in some localities from $30 an acre to $5,000 an acre. His talk led Mr. Mitchell, at the conclusion, to remark that 11,000,000 tons of coal and coke

BODY OF INFANT IS DISCOVERED IN VAULT

Perfectly Formed Twelve-Pound Female Child
Discovered Hidden Away at Speers--- Investigations Being Made

Hidden in a vault where it had evidently been carefully placed, the body of a female infant was found Thursday at Speers. The child's body was discovered by a man who was cleaning a vault. Coroner Jas. T. Heffran was notified and the infant was taken to the Reppert undertaking rooms in Belle Vernon. Investigations have been started by the coroner.

The infant was perfectly formed and no decomposition showed, indicating that it had been placed in the vault very recently. There are no clues to the identity of the infant. The body weighs about 12 pounds.

Temporarily the body will be kept at the undertaking room, and later will be interred at the direction of Coroner Heffran.

AN IMPRESSIVE GATHERING.
The second annual banquet of the Veteran Employees Association of the Monongahela division of the Pennsylvania railroad in Charleroi last evening was a most impressive gathering. Every member present had been in the continuous employ of the division for at least twenty-one years, and some of them perhaps double that term of service. Consequently the gathering was composed of seasoned and hardy veterans, gray haired, many of them, but all, except the few who had been retired on pensions, were in the prime of their usefulness and capable of rendering the very best service that long and progressive experience alone can give.

Perhaps the most important feature brought out by the gathering is the close personal and cordial relationship that exists between the division officials and the subordinates.

As a matter of fact in the association there is no official distinction.

All are employees, from division superintendent down to the humblest section foreman. But aside from this the close personal relations and the loyal fraternal spirit already existed before the association was formed, and it was perhaps this spirit more than any other which led to the organization. This, however, is a characteristic trait of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. Every employee has a life job and is assured of promotion so long as he tries to perform his duty and is faithful. When he grows old in the service after having given his active years to it, he is not kicked out to subsist as best he can.

Instead he is retired on a pension, which enables him to spend his de-cining years free from the cares of poverty or distress.

This is what makes the Pennsylvania Railroad company the most efficient system in existence. It operates the loyal and efficient service of its employees, and with an "old guard" like the Veteran Employees. As organization, it is most strongly entrenched in its upward and onward policy.

PRACTICAL GIVING.
Commenting on the gift of a barrel of marbles to the boys of Charleroi, by Jesse K. Johnston, a former citizen, the Washington Reporter says: "A Pittsburgh man who formerly resided in Charleroi has presented the boys of the Magic City with a barrel full of marbles. Common little things, those marbles, but imagine the joy of those Charleroi boys when they received a whole barrel full, carefully divided as to their needs."

"Here is practical giving. Here is giving that appeals to the mind of a boy. It is not a notable gift like the gift of a library but it has a most refreshing, practical quality which raises its value above the ordinary gift and giving."

"It is a good plan to keep the boys constantly in mind. They are the coming men. It is a good thing to cultivate the acquaintance and friendship of the boys. It will help them and it will help you too. There are other things besides marbles that you can present to the boys. It makes no difference what the gift is so that it is something that the boy can understand and that has a practical value to him."

"Boys should be cultivated by their elders. The older men should strive to get into the confidence of the boys. If the elders do not have the confidence of the boys it is certain they cannot accomplish anything with them. And one of the best ways to get close to the boys is by approaching them along lines that they understand and that appeal to them. Marbles form one good article of advance and there are others which might well be tried with a promise of success."

It is becoming a custom for undertakers to hold clinics the same as doctors at which time they embalm a dead man. Of course they have to catch the dead man before they embalm him.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

for vaudeville. "It was a dialogue between a sea captain and a Hebrew cook hand.

"Did you throw that anchor overboard as I told you?" asked the captain.

"Yoi, yoi, Captain!" replied the deckhand.

"But the vessel keeps on drifting."

"Well, but de anchor had no rope tied to it, Captain."

I came up to North Charleroi I gave my wife $70, and that is how I saved it.

Making a trip home the other evening I had spent all my change, but the five dollar bill I had kept out.

Leaving the boat at Rankin I spent 20 cents for carriage to Braddock.

On the street car two well dressed young men got on when I did, and after I shopped by $4.80 in change down into my pocket I stood a moment on the platform smoking a toby.

The car gave a lurch and one of the men bumped into me. The rim of his derby hat hit my toby, knocking ashes all over me.

"I bear your pardon," said the stranger. "I've knocked fire all over you." With that he took hold of me and began brushing the ashes from my clothes, at the same time apologizing profusely for his awkwardness.

"I good naturally excused him and we talked pleasantly until the next stop, when the two men alighted. When I got off at my street at Braddock I thought I would drop into a tobacco store and get some tobaccos before I went home. Reaching down into my pocket for my change I didn't find it where I thought it was—and I didn't find it at all.

"Then it dawned on me that I had been 'touched' when the stranger bumped into me and brushed the ashes off my clothes. I was both sore and thankful—sore to lose my $4.80 in spending money, but thankful that I'd given my wife the $70 before I left home.

"I'd been reading about pickpockets operating on the street cars about Pittsburgh, but that's the first time I ever ran up against an experience of that kind. The 'dip' was a smooth one all right and worked me to perfection."

The large corporation that hasn't been proceeded against upon one or more charges can afford to feel jealous.

Select Their Favorite Prison, Then Commit an Offense to Insure Winter Accommodations.

Beggars and professional vagabonds who have passed thirty years do not fail each year when the winds of October blow to select their winter quarters.

It is then that each of them commits some offense, well knowing that he will get penalty of six months' imprisonment. The delinquent sometimes his offense that he will not be at liberty until the month of April. He chooses his winter quarters wisely, for he knows the good and bad prisons.

Fresnes, because of its valued and luxurious accommodations, occupies the first rank among prisons. This year the temperature was such as to bring about some true knavery on the part of these beggars and vagabonds. From the month of August they were forced to commit some offense in order to assure themselves a shelter.

So la Sante, the antechamber of Fresnes, was gorged with prisoners for whom the tardy rays of the September sun proved a cruel irony. If the magistrates show clemency and condemn these derelicts to only six months of prison the disaster of these poor devils will be complete, for they will, without pity, be thrown into the street in the open month of January.—le Orléans de Paris.

ARE HANDSOMEST IN WORLD

Royal Irish Constabulary Bear Off the Palm From All Police of the Earth.

According to those most entitled to speak on the comparative pulchritude of the police, the Royal Irish Constabulary bear off the palm from all policemen in all other parts of the world. Dean Hole is quoted in the London Chronicle as contributing the following tribute to the fascination of the noble Irish force:

"Our London police are well favored in appearance, but if the Royal Irish Constabulary were to take their place for a week there wouldn't be a single female servant to be warranted heart whole in the metropolis."

London goes to the rural districts for its policemen largely, and the result is often as amusing, not to say exasperating, as that which arises in New York from the employment of foreign car conductors, sublimely ignorant of city streets and neighborhoods. The Chronicle writer tells of an encounter with an inexperienced policeman who was asked the whereabouts of a famous firm in the neighborhood, to which query the new bob by replied gayly:

"Bless ye, I know no more than yourself, sir. I only came up from Dorset yesterday."

Tea Drinking a Vice?

A foreign critic says: "In hunting a cause for this apparent decadence of the once mighty people (the British), some scientists have had much to say on the subject of tea drinking, for nowhere else is the habit so universal as in the British Isles. Women and children drink tea off and on during the day. Business men have to stop their work at intervals to partake of their tea. And in most instances the brew is exceptionally strong. It has been estimated that each person in Great Britain, on an average, takes a daily dose of 3.6 grains of alkaloid and 9.5 grains of tannin consumed in tea. This means that the average tea drinker takes half as much alkaloid and nearly as much tannin as the maximum allowed by the British pharmacopoeia for an occasional dose. And, of course, many thousands of people drink a great deal more than the average dose."

Speed of a Bullet.
Experiments with improved instruments for measuring the velocity of projectiles have shown that the speed goes on increasing after the missile has left the mouth of the cannon. Leaving the muzzle with a velocity of 1,474 feet a second, a projectile has been observed to increase its speed to 1,689 feet a second within the first six feet. It is only after having traveled 25 yards that the projectile's velocity becomes reduced to the speed it has on leaving the muzzle. This is ascribed to the impulse of the expanding gas being felt for some distance beyond the cannon's mouth.

Cheek.
"Cheek" in the sense of impudence is an old term. The earliest quotation in Sir James Murray's dictionary is from Captain Marryat (1840). But it has lately been found in the sixteenth century records of Galway, in the west of Ireland. The municipal rulers of that fighting city—the "man from Galway" has become proverbial for pugnacity and readiness to defend the hottest of corners—decree that any person giving "cheek" to the mayor should "forfeit 100 shillings and have his body put into prison."

Varying Melting Points.
The melting points of various heat-resisting materials have been thus determined by the United States Bureau of Standards: Fireclay brick, 2,831 to 3,137 degrees Fahrenheit; bauxite brick, 2,841 to 3,245 degrees; chromite brick, 2,772 degrees; magnesia brick, 3,929 degrees; bauxite, 3,308 degrees; chromite, 3,956 degrees; pure alumina, 3,650 degrees; pure silica, 3,182 degrees; silicon carbide, beginning to decompose at 4,028 degrees, but does not melt below 4,892 degrees.

Monongahela Division Employes Enjoy Second Annual Session--Supt. Mitchell, President of Association, Here

The Monongahela Division Employes Association met Saturday evening over the divisional meeting of the Monongahela Division, as shown by the scales of the company, the Pennsylvania Railroad, which party includes every employee eligible to membership on the division from an engineer, gave a short talk on section foreman to superintendent held its second annual banquet at the Turner Hall in Charleroi Thursday evening. A special train from Pittsburgh, which picked up the members along the route, arrived in Charleroi at about 6 o'clock, while other members from up the line came on the regular trains. The Pittsburgh contingent was headed by A. G. Mitchell, superintendent of the division, who is president of the association.

Before the banquet which was scheduled at 6:45, the annual business session was held in the reception room of the Turn Verein. The banquet was served in the hall above under direction of the steward of the club, who prepared a choice and sumptuous menu that was highly complimented by the guests. Palms and ferns served as decorations, while Wheeler's orchestra rendered a musical program during the repast.

At the conclusion of the banquet, Supt. Mitchell, as president of the association officiated as toastmaster. He read a number of letters of regret, among which were communications from President Rea, of the Pennsylvania system, who built the Monongahela division, and General Manager S. C. Long, who was also formerly located on the division. Mr. Mitchell prefaced his opening address with a statement of the association, which was only organized last year, in point of service, gave a humorous description of a railroad man's vacation. Division Engineer E. B. Wiseman, who was an invited guest, gave a brief talk, in which he said he was impressed by the dignity and high standing of the association, a membership of which money cannot buy.

With a few brief but forcible remarks along the line of habits, discipline and co-operation, Mr. Mitchell called upon John Wate's as the first speaker, whom he said, was one of the few employees who could perform his duties regularly and go to the ball game every afternoon. Mr. Walters paid a high tribute to the railroad interests as developing factors in the progress of the country, and to the growing efficiency of the railroad employees. Under present conditions, he said, the poem, "Asleep at the Switch," would never have been written.

Characterizing former Assemblyman Charles A. Bentley of Monongahela as a "has been," because he has been in the legislature, Mr. Mitchell called upon the former as the next speaker. Mr. Bentley was in his happiest vein and recited with telling effect his famous poem adapted from "Casey at the Bat" to apply to Governor Tener and to Charleroi. This produced great enthusiasm, and it culminated by the toastmaster proposing a toast to Governor Tener, which was given most heartily.

M. E. Hardgold, talked along the lines of efficiency and loyalty, and of the public service of the railroads. He said the Pennsylvania railroad along the Monongahela valley had been accused of raising prices and it did the price of land, for instance, in some localities, from $30 an acre to $5,000 an acre. His talk led Mr. Mitchell, at the conclusion, to remark that 11,000,000 tons of coal and coke

BUSY MONTH AT ELDORA

BELTZHOOVER TO PLAY CHARLEROI

Practically Every Date This Fast Allegheny County Team Month Booked up at Popular Pleasure Resort

Scheduled to Play Here on Saturday

Practically every day in June is booked up for Eldora Park and it has been necessary for Manager Tom P. Sloan and Assistant Roy S. Sharpback to figure closely to determine just where all the picnics are going to come in that are offered. This week Assistant Manager Sharpback was importuned to make a certain Nonongahela valley organization a nonentity.

The committee who made the arrangements was composed of W. C. Remhart, E. F. Kraemer and John Walters. Members of the Veterans Employees Association, who live in Charleroi are Gilbert Upgraff, S. J. Richardson and E. F. Kraemer. The latter, who is station agent here, has been in continuous service on the division for 24 years.

The first picnic next week will be that on Wednesday of the Ladies Auxiliary of the B. P. O. Elks, of Monessen. This auxiliary which was formed comparatively recently is making active preparations for the event, which they purpose to have an affair of unusual interest. Lady Elks will attend the affair from all along the Monongahela valley.

On Thursday the parochial schools of Monongahela and Donora will invade the park. Their outing it is believed, with propitious weather will be an event among the finest.

The regularly weekly dance will be held next week, beginning Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins dancing school, with the Delmar club of Monessen coming on Tuesday evening. The Charl-Mon club will be at

CHARLEROI LEADS IN MEN'S LARGE PARADE

Local Sunday School Workers Carry Umbrellas and Flags at Washington--Notable Convention and Many Are Present

Leading one of the best men's parades that ever featured a Sunday school convention in Washington county was held in Washington Thursday evening. Between 1,500 and 1,600 men were in the, about half the number that marched in Charleroi last year. There were 12 bands, various units of the army, the Cavalry, the Band of the 30th regiment, employed by the Charleroi district, leading. Charleroi workers carried alternately, red, white and blue umbrellas and "By This Sword We Conquer" American flags.

The main streets of the town traversed the parade lasting about an hour. The police of course acted as escort to the county officers. The visitors were as follows:

Charleroi district No. 1, Centerville district No. 2, Scenery Hill district No. 2, Monongahela district No. 4, Lore Pine district No. 4, California district No. 16, California Boys Brigade, Bentleyville district No. 17, Army district North, Butler, City of Venango, Rev. Earl C. Lindsey, of McDonald and R. R. Holmes of district No. 7, West Finley district, Claysville.

On resolutions—Rev. C. T. Littell, son of Charleroi; Mrs. J. S. Washington, and Rev. J. R. Cavitt, of McDonald.

On place of next convention—J. T. Heffron, Speiss; Peter McFee, Washington, and Miss Kathryn McGough of Monongahela.

On Thursday afternoon a devotional and song service was conducted by Rev. Albany R. Smith, and Miss Cora B. Dickey of Pittsburg spoke on the school of methods. Rev. L. O. Brown entertained the children in a chalk talk. J. S. Sisley of Greensburg, president of the Westmoreland County Sunday School association addressed an enthusiastic audience.

This morning's program was devoted largely to department work.

On resolutions—Rev. J. R. Burson, son of Charleroi; Mrs. J. S. Washington, and Rev. J. R. Cavitt, of McDonald.

On place of next convention—J. T. Heffron, Speiss; Peter McFee, Washington, and Miss Kathryn McGough of Monongahela.

On Thursday afternoon a devotional and song service was conducted by Rev. Albany R. Smith, and Miss Cora B. Dickey of Pittsburg spoke on the school of methods. Rev. L. O. Brown entertained the children in a chalk talk. J. S. Sisley of Greensburg, president of the Westmoreland County Sunday School association addressed an enthusiastic audience.

The Charleroi delegation attracted especial attention in the parade and was commented upon generally as the most attractive.

The parade terminated at the high school auditorium, where J. Dennis O'Neil, a county commissioner of Allegheny county spoke at the conclusion. Commissioner O'Neil spoke on "Booze and Politics," and poured hot shots into the camp of the liquor dealers. He showed the alleged influence of the liquor dealers in court.

On Friday afternoon a musical program was given at the Episcopal Church.

CHARLEROI GIRL MEMBER OF CLASS AT CONSERVATORY

An interesting musical program was rendered under the auspices of the Altar Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal church at a social held Thursday evening. The program was as follows:

Violin solo, "Cavatina," Samuel Simcox; soprano solo, Miss Jean Calvert; soprano solo, Miss Ethel Bartholomew; soprano solo, Miss Ethel Bartholomew.

When the Beltzhoovers come with them will travel a brother of the redoubtable Hans. It is asserted that this younger Lobert has baseball in him like the rest of them.

Thomas will twirl for Beltzhoover. He is said to be the real goods in the pitching line. Incidentally he bosses the gatherings. As a catcher he will have Lewis, a young Pittsburgher famed for his baseball ability. The entire Beltzhoover lineup is not known but Manager Mathers is assured that it will be a good one.

Here Charleroi fans will probably get to see for the first time Smith, the big Coal Valley twirler in a Charleroi uniform. It is expected that this hefty lad will pitch for Charleroi. Courtney will catch. Makepeace will likely be on first base and the lineup all around will be strengthened.

Discussed Woman Question. A large crowd listened to P. O. Midney the Socialist orator at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue last evening. Mr. Midney discussed the problem of woman suffrage as well as the working conditions of women together with their economic relations. He answered many questions and was attentively listened to by his audience.

AN IMPRESSIVE GATHERING—The second annual banquet of the Veteran Employees Association of the Monongahela Division of the Pennsylvania railroad in Charleroi last evening was a most impressive gathering. Every member present had been in the continuous employ of the division for at least twenty-one years, and some of them perhaps double that term of service. Consequently the gathering was composed of seasoned and wary veterans, gray haired, many of them, but all, except the few who had been retired on pensions, were in the prime of life, their usefulness and capital of rendering the very best service that long and progressive experience alone can give.

Perhaps the most important feature brought out by the gathering is the close personal and cordial relationship that exists between the division officials and the subordinates. As a matter of fact in the association there is no official distinction.

All are employees, from division superintendent down to the humblest section foreman. But aside from this the close personal relations and the loyal fraternal spirit already existed before the association was formed.

and it was perhaps this spirit more than any other which led to the organization. This, however, is a characteristic trait of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. Every employee has a life job and is assured of no position so long as he tries to perform his duty and is faithful. When he grows old in the service after having given his active years to it, he is not kicked out to subsist as best he can. Instead he is retired on a pension, which enables him to spend his declining years free from the cares of poverty or distress.

This is what makes the Pennsylvania Railroad company the most efficient system in existence. It incites the loyal and efficient service of its employees, and with an "old guard" like the Veteran Employees Association, it is most strongly entrenched in its upward and onward policy.

PRACTICAL GIVING.

Commenting on the gift of a barrel of marbles to the boys of Charleroi, by Jesse K. Johnston, a former citizen, the Washington Reporter says:

"A Pittsburgh man who formerly resided in Charleroi has presented the boys of the Magic City with a barrel full of marbles. Common little things, those marbles, but imagine the joy of those Charleroi boys when they received a whole barrel full, carefully divided as to their needs.

giving that appeals to the mind of a boy. It is not a notable gift like the gift of a library, but it is the most refreshing, practical quality which raises its value above the ordinary gift and giving.

It is a good plan to keep the boys interested in money by a number of various means. It is a good thing to cultivate the acquaintance and friendship of the boys. It will help them and it will help you too. Taste the other things besides marbles that are present to the boys. It makes no difference what the gift is so that it is something that the boy can understand and that has a practical value to him.

"Boys should be cultivated by their elders. The older men should strive to get into the confidence of the boys. If the elders do not have the confidence of the boys it is certain that a teacher will accomplish it with the best of them. And one of the best ways to get close to the boys is by approaching them along lines that they understand and that appeal to them.

With a form one could arrive at a point where there are others who will be tried with a promise of success."

WAYS OF FRENCH BEGGARS

Select Their Favorite Prison, Then Commit an Offense to Insure Winter Accommodations.

Beggars and professional vagabonds who have passed thirty years do not fall each year when the winds of October blow to select their winter quarters.

It is then that each of them commits some offense, well knowing that he will get a penalty of six months' imprisonment. The delinquent sometimes his offense that he will not be at liberty until the month of April, in the first warm breezes of spring. He chooses his winter quarters wisely, for he knows the good and bad prisons.

Fresnes, because of its valued and luxurious accommodations, occupies the first rank among prisons. This year the temperature was such as to bring about some true knavery on the part of these beggars and vagabonds. From the month of August they were forced to commit some offense in order to assure themselves a shelter.

St. Lazare, the incarceration of Fresnes, was gorged with prisoners for whom the tardy rays of the September sun proved a cruel irony. If the magistrates show clemency and condemn these derelicts to only six months of prison the disaster of these poor devils will be complete, for they will, without pity, be thrown into the street in the open month of January.—le Ori de Paris.

ARE HANDSOMEST IN WORLD

Royal Irish Constabulary Bear Off the Palm From All Police of the Earth.

According to those most entitled to speak on the comparative pulchritude of the police, the Royal Irish Constabulary bear off the palm from all policemen in all other parts of the world. Dean Hole is quoted in the London Chronicle as contributing the following tribute to the fascinations of the noble Irish force:

"Our London police are well favored in appearance, but if the Royal Irish Constabulary were to take their place for a week there wouldn't be a single female servant to be warranted heart whole in the metropolis."

London goes to the rural districts for its policemen largely, and the result is often as amusing, not to say exasperating, as that which arises in New York from the employment of foreign car conductors, sublimely ignorant of city streets and neighborhoods. The Chronicle writer tells of an encounter with an inexperienced policeman who was asked the whereabouts of a famous firm in the neighborhood, to which query the new boy replied gayly:

"Bless ye, I know no more than yourself, sir. I only came up from Dorset yesterday."

Tea Drinking a Vice?

A foreign critic says: "In hunting a cause for this apparent decadence of the once mighty people (the British), some scientists have had much to say on the subject of tea drinking, for nowhere else is the habit so universal as in the British Isles. Women and children drink tea off and on during the day. Business men have to stop their work at intervals to partake of their tea. And in most instances the brew is exceptionally strong. It has been estimated that each person in Great Britain, on an average, takes a daily dose of 2.6 grains of alkaloid and 9.7 grains of tannin consumed in tea. This means that the average tea drinker takes half as much alkaloid and nearly as much tannin as the maximum allowed by the British pharmacopoeia for an occasional dose. And, of course, many thousands of people drink a great deal more than the average dose."

Speed of a Bullet.

Experiments with improved instruments for measuring the velocity of projectiles have shown that the speed goes on increasing after the missile has left the mouth of the cannon. Leaving the muzzle with a velocity of 1,474 feet a second, a projectile has been observed to increase its speed to 1,689 feet a second within the first six feet. It is only after having traveled 25 yards that the projectile's velocity becomes reduced to the speed it has on leaving the muzzle. This is ascribed to the impulse of the expanding gas being felt for some distance beyond the cannon's mouth.

Cheek.

"Cheek" in the sense of impudence is an old term. The earliest quotation in Sir James Murray's dictionary is from Captain Marryat (1840). But it has lately been found in the sixteenth century records of Galway, in the west of Ireland. The municipal rulers of that fighting city—the "man from Galway" has become proverbial for pluck and readiness to defend the hottest of corners—decreed that any person giving "cheek" to the mayor should "forfeit 100 shillings and have his body put into prison."

Varying Melting Points.

The melting points of various heat-resisting materials have been thus determined by the United States bureau of standards: Fireclay brick, 2,831 to 3,137 degrees Fahrenheit; bauxite brick, 2,841 to 3,246 degrees; chromite brick, 2,772 degrees; magnesia brick, 3,929 degrees; bauxite, 3,908 degrees; chromite, 3,956 degrees; pure alumina, 2,650 degrees; pure silica, 3,182 degrees; silicon carbide, beginning to decompose at 4,026 degrees, but does not melt below 4,400 degrees.

Tonight the North Charleroi council is to hold a meeting at which time the ordinances for the grading of streets will be taken up for final reading. One of the ordinances is for the grading of Fourth street from the railroad to the river and the other for the grading of Fifth and Locust streets. AMONG THE THEATRES

THE COYLE-CHARLEROI

"The Kentucky Feud," a Warner feature film in three reels, was a headliner at the Coyle Theatre this week. Although the subject may be considered somewhat threadbare, the plot was more deep and subtle than the usual motion picture drama of this sort, and the action and situations more thrilling. The story was of a quarrel between a mountain couple, the unreasoning jealousy of the husband, which causes the wife to leave with her little daughter. By the irony of fate the daughter is adopted by a neighbor of the husband, while the mother strives to make her way in the city where she dies. The daughter grows up unknown to her father, who becomes involved in a feud with the benefactor of his daughter. In a battle between the warring elements the identity is made known, and a reconciliation takes place. Of course there is a pretty love

Montague and Capulet romance, as it were. Among the two-reel dramas of the week were "The Key," "A Fair Exchange," and in "The Secret Service" Manager Coyle has a splendid three reel feature, a Bison booked for Saturday. This is "The Stars and Stripes Forever," a stirring war picture where national valor upholds and preserves "Old Glory" to the highest degree. In addition there will be two extra reels to Saturday's program.

THE PALACE-CHARLEROI

Backed by the unqualified endorsement of Gus Sun, the head of the circuit which is supplying the acts for the Palace Theatre, the show at the Palace the last three days of this week is one that it is thought has never been surpassed in Charleroi. The headliners are The Medoras, who appear in an act they term the "Human Cinematograph." These artists are booked from England, and have appeared in various countries. The Medoras' team consists of a man and a woman. The man is a painter that paints real oil pictures in a few seconds that it would take many a legend artist as many months to improve upon. Also he does pastel work. The team mixes in with its work comedy of a refreshing variety.

Lynn and Wesley have a comedy playlet "The Girl from Hachetam," that is a most amusing hit. Ludicrous situations are portrayed to the delectation of their audiences. The girl that is declared to be the very best soprano in vaudeville, Lynn, is one of the entertainers at the Palace.

She is said to be the highest paid actress on the Sun circuit working as a single. She is a soprano who has a rare and pleasing quality of voice. For the Thursday night picture productions "The Sands of Time," a Seize drama and "Fright Auntie Up," a Lubin comedy were given.

THE STAR-CHARLEROI

A big three reel Broncho film was the feature at the Star Theatre this week. It was entitled "A Southern Cinderella," and as its title suggests told a pretty story of love and romance. Others worthy of special mention the fore part of the week were "The Patriot" and "The Homestead Race." A powerful drama of the Kentucky mountains was "Held for Ransom," which contained some most thrilling and sensational scenes and climaxes. "The Man From the City" was a virile drama of love and adventure, which presented some most remarkable situations. Another of this type was "I Love You," which was most appealing. A travel film of more than ordinary interest was "Scenes from Pisa." This presented some beautiful and quaint scenery in connection with this old Italian city, whose historic interest made the scenes all the more enjoyable. In addition to the subjects mentioned was a good repertoire of drama, comedy and travel. The Star has booking arrangements with the best film makers, and its repertoire is always well filled with entertaining subjects. As usual, a good program is reserved for the Saturday and Saturday night shows.

THE GRAND-PITTSBURG

In the Grand Opera House, next week, beginning Monday afternoon, June 16 the Harry Davis Players will present "The Third Degree," a masterful drama by Charles Klein, author of "The Lion and the Mouse,"

"The Next Man," etc. It is a gripping story of the "sweating system" or the third degree. Young Jeffries, son of a wealthy family while in a state of semi-inebriety, goes to the studio of a dealer in art curios though whom the acquaintance of the girl who is now his wife was made. The other for the grading of Fifth and Locust streets. The total on the two latter streets will be about three blocks, or from the bridge to Center street, pointing to young Jeffries as the murderer. In his basotted condition they
